Jackson County Industrial Development Corporation (JCIDC) has led the way for industrial and economic development in Seymour and Jackson County, Indiana since 1984. That brings to the table 20+ years of knowledge and experience in promoting the community, and in working with local, state, national and international ED leaders, businesses and elected officials. The JCIDC staff has but one purpose, to assist new industries in finding a home in the county and to promote the growth and expansion of those already here. In addition, in 1998, JCIDC started an award-winning workforce development program to enhance the competitiveness of business and industry, and that program is directed by the JCIDC staff. Whatever the needs, be it a new facility or business, an expansion, or help with your workforce, JCIDC is here to assist.
