

Meet the Hoosier Energy Economic Development Staff

Chuck Martindale

Chuck Martindale, Senior Economic Development Coordinator provides technical expertise to local economic development organizations and Hoosier Energy Power Network member cooperatives.

Chuck specializes in site development and overall management of projects. He has an extensive background in economic and community development financing, having worked with Indiana communities and in state government for nearly 30 years. He has helped numerous companies locate and expand in Indiana. Chuck worked for the Indiana Department of Commerce for 15 years in various capacities including Controller and Deputy Executive Director. He also served as Chairman of the State's Urban Enterprise Zone Board and President of the Indiana Small Business Development Corporation. He has worked extensively with local economic and community development organizations in Hoosier Energy's territory on business attraction and retention projects as well as community infrastructure projects.

Chuck earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from the Indiana University School of Business.

Contact Chuck Martindale at cmartindale@hepn.com or (812) 876-0378.